Qabbalistic Oddments 02

Zom the Octopus

Zero Philosophy
Apr 22, 2021

16 5

From Peter Godfrey-Smith's Metazoa (2020), p.148:

We should then at least consider the possibility that an octopus is a being with multiple selves. There is a primary or most complex self – the central brain – but also eight smaller ones. These smaller ones might not be sentient or conscious, but the general shape of the situation would be: 1 + 8.

5 Comments

Write a comment...

[[Aramis77]] Apr 22, 2021

This is Bullish for octopi industrialization I think.

♡ 3 Reply Collapse

1 reply

ExecrableFrippery Jul 17, 2021

Tell me, O Octopus, I catechizes

Is those things arms, or is they mindzes?

I marvel at thee, Octopus;

If I were thou, I'd call me Us.

♡ 2 Reply Collapse

3 more comments...

© 2023 Zero Philosophy · Privacy · Terms · Collection notice
Substack is the home for great writing